Announcing Virtual Internships for Columbia Students

Congratulations from the Columbia Global Centers on completing such a challenging semester!

To support students' summer experiences, the network of nine Columbia Global Centers around the world has identified virtual internships throughout their partner networks. Despite travel restrictions you can still have a global virtual internship for Summer 2020. It is not too late!

What are “virtual internships”?

Virtual internships are meaningful summer experiences for students to support a variety of projects at organizations (businesses, NGOs, universities, research centers, etc.) across the globe, directly from their home. Columbia students can apply to any virtual internship across the Global Centers network. In general, internships will last from mid-June to the end of August.

What virtual internships are available and where?

The list of available virtual internships is being constantly updated with new opportunities. CLICK HERE for the most updated list of available internships. (Sign in with your UNI – this list will be continuously updated with new opportunities, so be sure to check back regularly.)

How do I express an interest in a virtual internship?

The process is simple – just CLICK HERE to let the Global Centers know of your interest (sign in with your UNI). A representative from the Centers will contact you with further details and to connect you with the sponsoring organization.

About the Columbia Global Centers

The Columbia Global Centers network creates opportunities in research, scholarship, teaching, and service; engages across borders and across disciplines; and expands Columbia's mission as a global University. The Centers facilitate the collaborative engagement of University faculty, students, and alumni with the world, to enhance understanding, address global challenges, and advance knowledge. Centers are located in Amman, Beijing, Istanbul, Mumbai, Nairobi, New York, Paris, Rio de Janeiro, Santiago, and Tunis. See more information at: <https://globalcenters.columbia.edu>.
